POLICING

WA Police has introduced a new Operating Model in your District. Extra police have been added to the District, with your officers working in new formations of Investigation, Response, and Local Police Teams, overseen by a District Control Centre. Response Teams provide around-the-clock service, focusing on a quality response to priority tasks across the District. Local Police Teams are based at the eight existing stations. They pay greater attention to local problem solving, and are more accessible to the community with mobile phone numbers. You can follow them on Twitter and let them know the issues that most affect your community.

This map shows the suburbs being serviced by each police station. The WA Police website and the Bigger Picture Policing website have contact pages where you can find the mobile phone number for your Local Police Team.

These numbers should only be used to speak about a local issue with your local officer.

For all other police matters, please use the regular numbers – 000 for emergencies only, and 131 444 for police attendance.
