HISTORICAL INFORMATION

In 1892, land in Highgate Hill was acquired by Catholic Bishop Matthew Gibney and subdivided as the Mount Heart Estate.

The weatherboard house, sited on the triangular-shaped lot on the corner of Vincent and Harold streets, is situated opposite the Sacred Heart Parish Centre and Primary School, which is part of the Sacred Heart complex on Alacoque Square.

The subject dwelling was built on part of Suburban Lot 149, in 1905. It addresses the corner and both street frontages and is also situated a very short distance from Hyde Park, which had been upgraded shortly before the place was constructed. It would then appear in the Wise's Post Office Directories that it was numbered 188 from 1908 when this portion of the street received numbers up until at least 1949 when the last of the Directories was printed. In 1949, the place was occupied by Bernard Joseph Condren, a plumber; his wife Elizabeth and children Kathleen, a tailor; and Trevor, also a plumber.

It is believed that many of the houses in the area were occupied by devout members of the Sacred Heart Congregation and certainly in 1916 the subject place was occupied by Reverend James O'Reilly (RC). However, in 1912 Mrs F.M Iles, Christian Scientist and violin teacher, was one of the residents listed for No. 188.

Aerial photographs from the mid 20th century indicate that the place was originally clad with red corrugated iron which was replaced in the late 1980s when the extension across the rear was extended.
